1. PLAN AHEAD

See how much you can save for your next trip even if it isn't in the summer. You will be surprised.. First and foremost, there is no question that you must plan ahead to save money. You need to know where your dream destination is. How long will you be traveling for? What is the approximate amount it will cost? When you find out how much it will cost you can see how much you need to save. IT CAN BE DONE!

How can YOU save money?

Let's cover DIY (Do It Yourself) first. There are multiple options.

2. DIY YOUR FOOD AND BEVERAGE

2A. Factor in those fancy creations from your local coffee shop. Eliminate just one large latte ($4), one lunch ($10), and one restaurant dinner ($15) each week, and you'll save approximately $1500 in one year—That could be a significant increase in your travel allowance! Savings is $1500 yearly.

2B. Do you get daily coffee from your local coffee shop before you head off to work each morning? Your budget takes a daily hit. Let's just eliminate your daily coffee every morning you buy before work. Let's say a large coffee is $2.50 each day. You work 5 days a week for 50 weeks. You have 2 weeks off for vacation and other personal reasons. Daily Coffee Savings is $625 yearly

Instead make your own coffee. Bring a bag lunch to work. Make your own dinner, do not go out to eat so often. Look at how much you would be saving. This is just food and beverage.

3. DIY INTERESTS

3A. The Car Wash. For both men and women don't you want your car, SUV, or truck looking nice and clean? Do you have to go to the car wash and spend $10-$25 depending on what you want to get cleaned, or is it something you could do at home. Everyone lives in different areas of the United States and the weather plays a role in when or how often you get your car washed. So as we look at the whole United States, let's just say we spend $20 a month to get our car washed. A total of $240, but let's just round that up to $250 to make it easy. Savings is $250 yearly.

3B. Regular Manicures and Pedicures I know women enjoy getting their nails done. You want to have the prettiest nails especially with the warm temperatures and wearing nice sandals, but instead of spending that money to get your nails professionally done, you can buy nail polish and do it at home.

To get a regular manicure and pedicure each month it cost approximately $30. That would be a total of $360 for a full year, but of course you do not go to your nail salon to get just a "regular" manicure & pedicure, you have to go for those French manicures and pedicures too. Let's round it up to $400 spent yearly to have your nails professionally done. Savings is $400 yearly

If you want to save some money splurge every other month and get your nails done. This would be $180 saved. Yes you might want to spend a little extra money and get a French manicure as well. Let's make the savings an even $200. Savings is $200 yearly.

4. DIY JOBS

4A. Cleaning the House Who does the cleaning? Do you have a maid come in to clean the house each week or every other week? There are 52 weeks in 1 year. I know everyone one's house has a different square footage and some are larger than others, so for this reason we will leave the price at $25 per hour and it takes 4 hours to clean the house. That is $100 weekly for cleaning the house for a total of $400 a month, and $4800 yearly. Hello, you have plenty of money saved for a nice 7 day vacation for 2 in the Caribbean right here. Has your mouth dropped? Savings is $4800 yearly

Choose to clean the house bi-weekly. That is $200 monthly for 12 months. That is $2400 for the year. This is still a nice chunk of money you would be saving. Savings $2400 yearly

4B. Upkeep of Your Yard What about taking care of your yard? Hiring a Landscaping company to mow the lawn, clean up the leaves, and for snow removal for your driveway, walkway, and sidewalk, and other locations you might want done. Of course where you live plays a role in if you need the service(s) or not. Also the size of your yard will play a role in cost for each job. These are just some items that people pay someone to come and do, when it is really is not necessary. So many factors play a role in the upkeep of one's yard because of your location, weather conditions, and yard size, and what services are needed. Savings are Limitless

5. GROCERY SHOPPING

What about going grocery shopping? Do you look to see what is on sale each week in the weekly flyer? What about waiting until chicken breasts or chop meat go on sale and buy it then. These foods are items that can be stored in your freezer and will not go bad.

Yes, groceries can be expensive, but items you can buy that will not go bad you should buy in bulk, such as toilet paper or paper towels.

Do you make a shopping list each time you go to the grocery store? Without that list oh how easy it is to go up and down the aisles and say, "oh I need this, I could use that, and start putting items into that cart even though it is not on your list. Do you have coupons? Use them. Savings are Limitless

6. WINE, BEER, LIQUOR

Who likes to drink wine, beer or liquor? Do you like to have a few beers a day? What about glasses of wine in the evening? Who wants to make a mixed drink with vodka, rum, tequila, or gin? This is great to do when you are celebrating a birthday or holiday, however do you have to have daily glasses of wine at night or drink multiple cans of beer a day? I can't say what the total amount of savings could add up to, but reduce the amount of alcohol you buy and drink. Splurge for those special occasions. Savings are Limitless

7. CLEAN OUT YOUR CLOSETS ...

And your basement, shed, and attic! Take an honest look around your home and see what you can part with. There are lots of options for turning those neglected items into cash, including resale websites, such as EBay, consignment shops, or even a community garage sale Facebook pages. You can also have a yard sale. As a bonus, you're earning money for travel and clearing clutter at the same time! Who knows how much you could save? Savings are Limitless

8. MAKE IT AUTOMATIC

It's easier to spend money once you have it in your hands. "Out of sight, out of mind" can be an effective saving strategy. Have a small portion of each paycheck directly deposited into a separate account just for travel savings. Let's keep it low, how about putting just $20 a week into the savings account? That would be $80 each month. The total saved would be $960 for the year. Let's round it up for a couple of weeks you put $25 in that travel savings account. Travel Savings $1000 yearly.

Hold it, what about if you are receiving a tax refund? Bang through it into that travel savings account. Tax Refund Savings is different for everyone. Travel Savings $1000 yearly +Tax Refund

9. DEPOSIT EARLY

Waiting until the last minute for your travel plans often results in limited choices and higher prices. Booking early gives you the best selection of flights, accommodations, and other options. Instead of requiring immediate payment for the total trip cost, most of the travel suppliers I work with allow you to place a deposit to reserve your choices—Sometimes as low as $50-$200 per person! The final balance won't be due until 45-60 days before you travel, and you can make smaller payments in between. Based on travel agent experience let us say on average Savings $300

10. DON'T BUY THINGS; COLLECT MEMORIES

Is it truly necessary that you buy the next up incoming technology gadget, like Apple's new Iphone? What will you be doing, but making a large payment? What about buying the newest and largest TV for your Super bowl party. Is it necessary to buy the latest and greatest? Women, do you enjoy shopping? Are you into trendy clothes? What about purses? Michael Kors anyone? Do you need to buy the latest style sandals. Yes women we are all guilty at something here. Savings are Limitless

11. CAN YOU EARN A LITTLE EXTRA INCOME?

Could you possibly do a side job here or there or maybe just seasonal. Examples could be:

- 11A. Cleaning houses (for those who clean their own homes you can see how much you can make buy cleaning other homes and what extra money you could earn.
- 11B. Mowing lawns and shoveling during the winter for others
- 11C. Maybe you could do a little babysitting and earn some cash that way.
- 11D. Are you good at sewing? Can you help in making alterations?
- 11E. What about holiday season, retail stores do need more workers during this time of year.

Look at the 5 suggestions I made. I am sure you can come up with others that you are capable of. Just think what is the possible amount you could save if you did XYZ? Savings are Limitless

12. UTILITIES FOR YOUR HOME

Not everyone may be able to save on utilities depending on the type of residence you live in and if utilities are included in the price of rent.

If you are one that can save on utilities, look at the possibilities on how you can save money.

12A. Think about electricity. Do you leave lights on that you do not need to?

12B. What about heating your house, can you keep your heat at a lower temperature? Maybe 68 instead of 70 or 72 degrees during the winter. Do you have a timer so the heat goes off at a certain time at night and comes back on in the morning?

12C. What about water. Do you enjoy taking those long showers or washing dishes with the water continuing to run?

12D. Air conditioning the house. If you live in a warm climate what about that air conditioning continuously running whether it is central air or not. Put it on a timer to set the temperature when to come on or go off especially when you are not home.

Whether it is heat or air conditioning a few degrees can save you money. Savings are Limitless

13. MAXIMIZE REWARDS

Analyze your credit card purchases, and see if there are reward programs you might qualify for. Some offer points or miles, while others offer cash back, and you'll need to shop around to see which is the best option for your needs. Even if you prefer not to use credit cards, there are shopping rebate programs like Ebates, Ibotta, or old-fashioned paper coupons—Just remember to put those savings directly into your travel account!

14. WHAT ABOUT ALL THAT EXTRA CHANGE IN YOUR WALLET

Does your change add up in your wallet? When your wallet cannot take any more change empty your wallet of change and put it into a piggy bank. Collect those quarters and store them in a separate piggy bank from the rest of your nickels, dimes, and pennies. You will be surprised how those quarters can quickly turn into dollar bills and those dollar bills add up. Eventually go to refund your change and you'll be amazed at how you will have saved. Next stop deposit into you travel savings account. Savings are Limitless

Look at all the different ways you can save on your Dream Honeymoon, Family Vacation, or Bucket List Trip you have been wanting to take. All the listed Tips do not have prices on the amount you can save, so you could possibly save approximately $10,000 in a year with the numerous ways I have suggested.

NOW CREATE A PLAN TO SAVE THAT MONEY!

1. What items can you eliminate from the list of options I suggested to save for your Dream Getaway right now that do not affect you?
2. With the remaining items what are things you can do to save money immediately?
3. What are things that can be done, but not right away, example seasonal jobs.
4. After making your two lists, Immediate Savings and Gradual/Seasonal Savings, put them in places that will remind you of the things you can do to save money. Examples could be the refrigerator or saved in your cell phone.
5. Start with the immediate changes you can make on saving money. Write these items down. With each option see how you can save money or reduce the amount being spent. Write it down. Do this for every immediate item on your list. What way do you plan to save money? What is your goal for each item?
6. When it comes to Gradual/Seasonal Savings, remember you already have that on the refrigerator or saved in your cell phone. You once again need to write down exactly how you plan on saving that money. What is your goal? Will all of this be going directly into your travel savings account?

If it is a seasonal job such as mowing lawns, how are you going to let people know what you are doing? This again requires planning ahead. You will have to let people know ahead of time what your plans are. Share it with friends and family and they can pass the word along. If it is for the holiday season, you will have to apply for the job when you see them advertised, or just keep an eye out for a part time job at a retail store.
